

Accelerating Green Growth in Ethiopia

The Global Green Growth Institute (GGGI) is an intergovernmental organization founded to support and promote green growth, which is the coordinated advancement of economic growth, environmental sustainability, poverty reduction and social inclusiveness.

In Ethiopia, GGGI has been supporting the Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia since 2010 in green growth development. Over the past 5 years, GGGI has been assisting the Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia (GoE) implement its national Climate Resilient Green Economy (CRGE) plan by contributing to effective CRGE planning in terms of poverty reduction, greenhouse gas emissions, and vulnerability reduction. GGGI has supported the GoE in the efficient use of resources and provided institutional capacity development support to strengthen CRGE implementation.

GGGI Value Proposition

GGGI offers the Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia integrated value-added strategic advisory services, knowledge leadership on green growth planning and implementation, and support in leveraging green investments and in developing productive partnerships with research institutions to generate evidence based green growth policy.

Activities in Ethiopia

For Ethiopia to become a middle-income country by 2025 and achieve poverty reduction goals outlined in the country's Second Growth and Transformation Plan (GTPII), the GoE understands that environmental sustainability and inclusive growth are critical. In support of these goals GGGI is providing:

- Support to create an enabling environment for policy formulation, implementation of green growth activities and green growth integration into the GTPII
- Capacity building services to improve performance of federal and sub-national governmental institutions to implement green growth activities
- Advisory services to mobilize green investments and financing for implementation of green growth initiatives

GGGI Expertise

We work in areas where our support is most needed. GGGI's comparative advantage is a combination of deep understanding of government priorities and processes. This expertise has been gained by acting as embedded advisors to decision makers across governments.

As an independent international organization, GGGI offers the GoE sound, objective impartial advice on a range of economic topics related to the CRGE, and provides greater sectoral and thematic coverage than most development partners in Ethiopia. In particular, GGGI delivers value through:

- Supportive understanding of the core economic and development priorities of the GoE, including climate resilience and Ethiopian transformation toward a green economy
- Responsive action to diverse GoE demands for implementation of green growth activities
- Capacity to constructively challenge, identify and provide strategic advice
- Technical analysis and strategic advice at the sector levels of agriculture, forestry, water and energy
- In-house thought leadership that is at the forefront of green growth project design and implementation

Partner with GGGI

One of GGGI's key strengths is its local presence. Our team of local experts and international advisors brings strong networks and knowledge to all our partnerships. To enable the greatest possible impact and scale in our work, we focus on strong collaborations with partners at all levels - from other international organizations to national and local governments, global corporations and local NGOs. GGGI Experience

GGGI has led in a number of green growth activities in Ethiopia. Some highlights include:

- GGGI inputs on mainstreaming climate resilient and green economy principles have been incorporated into Ethiopia's Growth and Transformation Plan II (2015-2020)
- GGGI has helped improve planning systems and economic and development indicators at macro and sector levels
- CRGE Facility capitalization: GGGI facilitated the development, approval and disbursement of over $20 million of Fast Track Investments through the CRGE Facility, which has led to further resource mobilization
- Climate Resilience Strategies: GGGI supported the development of the GoE's Climate Resilience Strategies for Agriculture, Forest, Water, Irrigation and Energy
- GGGI developed the New Climate Economy (NCE) Ethiopia urbanization and NCE growth study
- Supported the GoE in developing private sector engagement strategy for the CRGE Facility
- Assisted in the establishment of the Environment and Climate Research Center
- GGGI is leading the National Capacity Development Program for CRGE implementation
- GGGI's advisors have supported the GoE in identifying priorities areas in the agriculture, forestry, energy and industry sectors for Green Climate Fund project proposal development

General Information

GGGI is a new intergovernmental organization founded to support and promote a new model of economic growth known as "green growth." Green growth targets key aspects of economic performance such as poverty reduction, job creation, and social inclusion, and those of environmental sustainability.

Headquartered in Seoul, Republic of Korea, GGGI also has representation in a number of other partner countries.
